The Nedis world receiver enables you to listen to short wave radio stations from across the globe. This way, you stay informed of all current events in your own country while being on the other side of the world, even if there's no internet connection or television at your disposal. It also has the option to tune into FM and AM stations.

Given its compact and lightweight design, there's always room for it in your suitcase or bag. This world receiver is equipped with a carrying handle to put it down and a carrying strap to attach it to your backpack or tent pole.
