With this stylish hot water dispenser you can have hot water within a few seconds with just a the touch of the button. There is no need to preheat, nor wait. In contrast to a kettle, you do not need to heat a minimum filling amount because this hot water dispenser works according to the continuous heating principle. It only heats the amount of water you need. This saves time and energy.

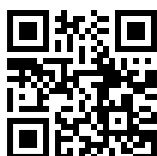

Thanks to the 5 different volume selections and seven temperature choices, you have complete control of this dispenser. From room temperature to steaming hot water for tea or an instant noodle snack.
